Milliken Announces Competition Winners

The seven winning designs, selected from approximately 1,500 entries in Milliken's first annual Carpet and Rug Competition, were shown in Chicago during NEOCON X. Daniel Stark, Director of Style and Design at Milliken, presented the designers with the awards which carried cash prizes for the designers and cash grants for the recipient's designated art, design or architectural schools. The winning entries are being produced by Milliken in an 80/20 blend of wool/nylon and will become part of either the Magistrate contract line or the firm's area rug collection.

The panel of judges who selected the winning entries was composed of: Barbara D'Arcy, Vice President, Bloomingdales; Sherman R. Emery, Editor, Interior Design; Christian Rohlfing, Curator, The Cooper-Hewitt Museum; Lydia Cherniakova, carpet style and design consultant; and Daniel Stark. circle 420

Rondeau, winner of $1,000 first prize, was designed by Pamela Pearce of Seattle, an interior designer with Don Miles Associates. The design will be produced as both an area rug and contract broadloom.

Lineate, selected for $1,000 first prize as an area rug, was designed by Scott Rothstein of Philadelphia, a recent graduate from the Philadelphia College of Art.
